GENERAL BRADLEY OFFERS WISE
PRESCRIPTION FOR OUR WELFARE

After reading Gen. Omar N. Bradley's speech to the Chicago Economic Club we are convinced that General Eisenhower has a wholly worthy successor as chief of staff. General Bradley's military brilliance is unquestioned. But his speech was marked by the same clear-sighted wisdom, compassionate wish for peace, and understanding of the civilian's viewpoint which have made General Eisenhower the admired and trusted public figure that he is.

General Bradley acknowledged that military expenditures were high and that they competed with needs of social progress. He said that it is the people and Congress, not the military, who must make the final decision on military budgets and rearmament. At the same time he expressed the sound view that one division for the prevention of war is worth a dozen divisions for fighting a war.

General Bradley noted that "there is happily a vast difference between the possibility and probability of war." But he warned that between them may lie a "twilight of tension" in which there is danger of complacency if the cold war should become a "war of boredom."

It was encouraging to us to see that the general had bluntly labeled as "fools" those persons who talk of winning a war in a few days with new weapons, or who say "if war is to come, let it come now." And it was more encouraging to hear from a man, who has a commanding voice in military policy, a statement of what he thinks that policy should be.

We need, said General Bradley, a stable, long-range military policy no less than we need a stable, long-range foreign policy. It should be a policy that does not "respond to crises after they have erupted" and does not shift "every time a paper is rustled east of the Elbe."

Foreign policy today is badly hampered by interim uncertainty. Military policy is still hampered by disagreement among the leaders of our armed services, which seem to be "unified" more in name than in fact. Both situations give cause for some concern. So it is all the more reassuring to hear this clear and sane statement from the chief of staff, and to feel that it is being urged upon our makers of policy.

The makers of top policy include Congress, of course, as well as the executive department. And it seems likely that Congress will have the same confidence in him that it had in his distinguished predecessors, Generals Eisenhower and Marshall.

If the present chief of staff will talk as convincingly to Congress—and through Congress to the people—as he did to the Economic Club of Chicago, he will probably find strong backing for his wise prescription for the nation's continued welfare.

Boyle's Column

A Little Latin
In Big Manhattan

By Hal Boyle

New York—Sure and bejabber, there were two Irishmen.

They were fresh from the old sod, they were, and complaining the streets of the new world weren't paved with gold. Sure and if then they didn't pass a great building with fine pillars. And there was a stone in it that said: "MCMXIX."

And Pat turns to Mike and says: "Faith, Mike, we do be judging the country too harshly. There's one Irishman that's getting along all right."

It wasn't an Irishman? Ha Ha! Yes, it's an old story. Everybody knows that the "MCMXIX" stands for 1909. But suppose the stone had said "MCDXLIV." The odds are strong that you could not tell—any more than the Irishmen—when it was built.

And that's why congress should vote funds to teach people how to read the Roman dates on cornerstones. Either that or pass a law forcing contractors to put on "1409" instead of "MCDXLIV."

It's important. Just why, I'll explain later.

First let us take a simple little Roman date like "MCDXLIV." I showed this to 30 people and asked them what number it stood for. The replies ranged from "I don't know" to "it's easy—1,550,904."

So I called the New York public library, where they have an information service that can tell you everything from the number of feathers on an albatross to what was Hiawatha's chest expansion.

"What number does 'MCDXLIX' stand for?" I asked.

A young lady who sounded like a pretty fair number herself answered sweetly: "Search me."

This seemed like a grand idea—offhand. But then she switched me to the art department, where she said they had more experience with Roman numerals.

"Oh, yes, we get questions about Roman numerals quite often," said a dear old elderly voice, as gentle as the painting of Whistler's mother wired for sound.

"What was it you wanted—MCDXLIX?"

There was a long pause, and then "H-m-mmm. It's quite confusing."

arranged that way. Let's see. The "M" stands for one thousand, the "XL" is fifty less 10—that's forty. The "IV" of course is four. But the "CD"—I don't find it in the World Almanac. The Almanac has only "DC"—six hundred. Perhaps "CD" is the same thing as "DC."

"That would make it one thousand, six hundred and forty-four. Does that sound right?"

No, ma'am. It didn't. The New York public library was publicly wrong. The right answer was one thousand, four hundred and forty-four.

What difference does it make? Well, if the politicians get word nobody can read cornerstone dates—they can slap "MCDXLIV" on every big city bridge or building they put up.

"Look At The Cornerstone!" Ten years later they can come along and say they want to tear it down, and put up another one. When a taxpayer yelps, "why it's practically new," the politicians can say:

"You pitiful dope—look at the cornerstone. It says MCDXLIV—1444. Why this building is a public menace. It might fall down any minute."

And up goes a new building—and the tax rate.

How long can we afford this chaos on cornerstones? Arise, congress. Get up off the seat of government and end this confusion. Satus Populi Lex Suprema Esto! Or I'm not a latin from Manhattan.

(Editor's note: On the other hand we could just seal up Boyle in an undated cornerstone while he works out a concrete solution.)

To Name Officers
For Neighborhood
Council Tonight

A nominating committee will meet this evening to select a slate of officers for the newly-formed neighborhood council of the Jefferson school area.

The meeting will take place at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Biehl, 611 Myrtle street. Serving on the committee besides Mr. and Mrs. Biehl are Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Harris, Lloyd G. Gonn will represent the Community Service committee, which has been instrumental in organizing the council.

The officers nominated at tonight's meeting will be voted upon at the next session of the council Dec. 7.

The formation of the council is a direct result of questionnaires circulated through the Jefferson school area by the Community Service committee. A report on these questionnaires showed that residents of the area favored organizing such a council, as well as a boy's club.

The council will function more or less as a planning body, its primary purpose being to arrange suitable recreational programs for children and adults of the area. The establishment of a neighborhood center is the ultimate goal of the council.

Meetings will be held monthly, at which time projects will be discussed and new programs outlined. A speaker will be featured at each meeting. There will also be a social period.

A special committee headed by Mrs. Virginia Beerup and Mrs. Sue Christensen as co-chairmen, is formulating plans to get the boy's club under way as soon as possible.

Through the club recreational activities will be provided for grade school boys of the area.

Others on the committee are Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Biehl, Danzil Day and Miss Frances Smith.

Farmer Loses 4
Fingers In Corn
Picker Accident

Robert Clark, a well known young farmer residing west of Arenzville, lost four fingers of his right hand in a corn picker accident Monday while working on his farm.

The fingers were so badly mutilated that amputation was necessary after Mr. Clark was taken to the Schmitt Memorial hospital at Beardstown. Dr. T. G. Charles is the attending physician.

Mr. Clark was working in a field with his brother-in-law, Eldore Nobis, when his hand became entangled in the moving parts of the picker.

His condition Tuesday morning was reported as satisfactory.

Questions And Answers On Service To Veterans

(This is another in a series of questions and answers regarding the rights of ex-servicemen and their families, as answered by Keith C. Peabody, veterans employment representative, Illinois State Employment Service, 211 East Morgan street. For further information, contact Mr. Peabody.)

I served overseas with the infantry and was awarded the Purple Heart. Recently I lost the medal. How may I obtain a replacement for it?

Your Purple Heart medal may be replaced without charge if it was lost without your fault or neglect. Application for replacement should be made to the Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C. In your application, include full identifying information about the issuance of the medal and a statement as to how it was lost. Also include your full name, address, serial number, rank and organization at time the medal was earned.

I served in the Philippines and liked the climate and the people there, very much. I made a number of friends while in Manila and now have an opportunity to open a business there. Is it possible for me to obtain a GI Bill loan for such a venture?

No. G.I. loan guarantees are available only for property or a business within the continental limits of the United States or its possessions or territories.

As a veteran I'm interested to know just what veterans will be eligible for the National Service Life Insurance dividend when it is paid.

If a veteran has not reinstated his insurance he will be paid any such dividend?

The Veterans Administration will pay dividends on all NSLI which has been in force for a period of three months or longer whether it is now lapsed or still in effect. It is estimated that payment of such dividends will not be made until sometime in 1949, perhaps even later.

I was in Hawaii in the Waves during the war and am interested in knowing if the navy intends to send WAVES outside the United States or will they be assigned only to domestic duty, with the exception of the Hawaii base where they were assigned during the war.

Under a revised policy, WAVES will be stationed at selected overseas bases, among the areas now open to wives of naval personnel.

The stopping of the clock designated the hour of departure and an expression of quietness. Customs change, but quietness will always be treasured by a grief stricken family. The quiet surroundings of our Memorial Home suggest thoughtfulness and quietness. Remember?

Letters For Europe Pushed

New York—(AP)—A young American writer and a score of continental newspapers have joined forces in an ambitious campaign to get Europeans and Americans better acquainted—by mail. Their goal is the annual exchange of millions of personal letters between Mr. Average Citizen, U.S.A., and his counterpart in ten western European countries.

The American is Robert Farr, 30, magazine writer, European collaborators in the program are newspapermen in France, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands, Denmark, Finland, Sweden, Norway, Luxembourg and Switzerland.

Farr is founder and director of the International Friendship association, which has launched a nationwide campaign to get Americans to write letters about themselves, their activities and America. These letters, which also may stipulate the type of European with whom the writer would like to correspond, should be addressed to "Friendship Association, Summit, New Jersey."

The association will relay the letters to cooperating European newspapers. The latter will distribute them to their readers. From that point on, the writers on both sides of the Atlantic are on their own. They will mail succeeding communications direct to each other. The association will furnish stationery to most of the European correspondents.

"This isn't a new idea. We are just expanding an idea that's already been tried out successfully," Farr said.

PRAGUE BANS GERMAN GRAVE MARKERS

Prague—(AP)—The city administration has dug up an old order that German inscriptions on tombstones must be removed, and announced that removal must be done by the end of this year except where removing the lettering would deface other art work on the grave stone.

The order was issued shortly after liberation in 1945, when feeling against the Sudeten Germans and every other kind of German ran high. German inscriptions were to be replaced by Czech. But, like all orders, enforcement lagged. Recently the question was renewed and the Prague council decided it must be obeyed.

Illinois Valley Chart For Week Opens Today

By BILL CHIPMAN
Jerseyville — This week's Illinois Valley conference card pits old rivals against each other in every game except the Jerseyville-Pleasant Hill. This week also completes the season for all eight teams. Games are strung out from Wednesday afternoon through Friday night.

Jerseyville expects to complete the best season in school history Wednesday afternoon, traveling to Pleasant Hill for a contest scheduled to start at 2 p. m. The Panthers own a 34-0 non-conference win over the Hilltoppers in the season opener for both teams.

Conclude Careers
Wednesday's tilt winds up the high school gridiron careers for such standouts as Ralph Bailey, star halfback and the loop's leading scorer; Jerry Hewitt, rugged 147-pound quarterback; Jim Waggoner, glue-fingered end, and his running mate at the other flank, Herb Landry; Dick Bell, passy fullback; and Jim Bell, Jerseyville's finest blocker.

If Jerseyville wins, they will have a 2-1 record, marked only by a 7-6 loss to Pittsfield.

Wednesday night Winchester entertains a natural rival, Pittsfield. The Saukies must win this one to complete an undefeated season. Although the Wildcats appear to be outclassed, they have caused trouble for the Saukies in previous such season finales.

Beaumont Has A Charm All Its Own

QUEBEC, P. Q. (AP) (1948-49) — Good things very often come about as if by chance. Quebec City, ancient citadel of North America, became a tourist attraction a good many years ago. But summer-time was the only portion of the year when many visitors ventured that way. In the winter, Quebec city folks had to do something to break up the tedium of the then sportless portion of the calendar.

In the old days colorful snowshoes parties, toboggan slides, dog-team races and skating graced the great board promenade in front of the Chateau Frontenac—natural center for promotional activity in the picturesque region.

Suddenly the world came alive with ski lore and enthusiasm! In a brief year or two, the craze for uphill transportation on smoothly-packed downhill runs, came about. The innovation of the ski tow had a lot to do with it. The ski tow of skiing completely the reverse of its previous estate. Prior to the first ski-tow in the world, (Shawbridge, P.Q. 1931) a skier spent 95% of his time climbing. The ski tow now enabled him to spend 96% of his time going downhill.

Quebec, the old summer rendezvous of sightseers, was fortunate to find itself in one of the greatest normal snowbelts in the world. Other parts of America might construct all the wonderful equipment they desired, but the Quebec area was blessed by being the most certain of having good deep snow, greater proportion of bright cold winter days—in short Quebec had the climate come what may. The old curse of "snow-boundness" had indeed become a blessing.

The ancient winter carnivals now took on significance. Civic promotion demanded that they be publicized and that outsiders take part. Soon the hills in the area of Quebec proper were overlaid with American and Canadian visitors. Demand dictated that Quebec expand

WHEAT, CORN FUTURES MAKE PRICE GAINS ON EXPORT BUYING

Chicago, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Export buying in wheat and corn futures brought late price rallies today on the Board of Trade.

Grains fell in early trade due to profit taking sales on yesterday's gains. Commercial interests participated in the buying which led to the late uptick.

Corn offerings from the country continued light today. Only 30,000 bushels were booked to arrive overnight.

Michigan Works To Stay On Top

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Coach Bennie Oosterbaan resorted to hard work today as the best means of getting his unbeaten Michigan football team in the proper mood for Saturday's meeting with lightly-regarded Indiana.

As he drove the first stringers through defenses against Hoosier plays, he kept harping on the potentialities of "such backs as George Taliaferro," Indiana's triple-threat.

But spectators on the sidelines felt the only incentive to "pour it on" Indiana would be to beat the Hoosiers worse than Notre Dame's 42 to 6 lacing last week—and thus keep Michigan in the nation's No. 1 spot.

BELOIT COLLEGE OPENS HARDWOOD SEASON NOV. 23

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 9.—(AP)—A 26-game basketball schedule for Beloit College, last year the second highest scoring small college team in the nation, was announced today by Athletic Director Dolph Stanley.

Beloit's schedule, opening Nov. 23 against Wheaton (Ill.) College, includes a doubleheader against two opponents here and a four-team tournament involving Louisville, Indiana State and Marshall at Kansas City.

The schedule includes:

Dec. 4—Southern Illinois; Dec. 6—At Lake Forest; Jan. 14—At Monmouth; Jan. 15—Knox.

Aerial Operations Still Dominate Illinois Offense

Champaign, Ill.—Illinois' aerial operations, offensively and defensively, continued to dominate the Illini statistical columns.

Ray Eliot's club has completed 59 of 116 passes for 864 yards and a 500 percentage, at the same time limiting opponents to 30 completions in 94 attempts for 572 yards and a 210 percentage.

Defense Outstanding
The Illini have been susceptible to long passes on occasion. But on the whole their pass defense has been outstanding, particularly against such talented pitchers as Purdue's Bob DeMoss and Iowa's Al Dimarco. The Illini held that stout pair to a combined total of 9 completions in 35 tries for 169 yards and one touchdown.

Bernie Krueger put on another of his bullseye exhibitions against Iowa to raise his personal accumulation to 41 completions in 77 passes, a 532 percentage. Krueger's passes have gained 387 yards. Walt Kersulis still leads Illini receivers by a wide margin with 18 receptions for 269 yards. His closest rivals are Dike Eddleman, with 9 for 179 yards, and Tony Klimek with 9 for 139.

Average Higher Than Opponents
Thanks to Krueger's passes plus an improved ground game against Iowa, the Illini now boasts a better average per play than their opponents. Illinois has tried 423 plays for 1,865 yards, an average of 4.5 yards, whereas seven foes have used 447 plays for 1,826 yards, a 4.1 average.

Sam Piazza's fine performance against the Hawkeyes boosted him into rushing leadership with 134 yards in 30 carries, a 4.5 average. Russ Steger has rushed 50 times for 211 yards, best total gain for the Illini, and a 4.2 average. Dike Eddleman maintained his punting average at 41.3 yards for 44 kicks.

The Illini continued to pass the scoring around, and now 11 players have tallied points with Patterson's 24 still tops.

Sitko Still On Doubtful List

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Right Halfback Emil Sitko of Notre Dame was still listed as doubtful today but his replacement, Larry Coulure, was tagged as ready to go against Northwestern Saturday.

Sitko suffered a rib fracture against Indiana. Coulure has been out with a sprained ankle.

Left Halfback Terry Brennan, who has an injured knee, is expected to be ready for limited action. Right Guard Marv Wendell was reported in shape again.

The Irish worked on defense against Northwestern plays today.

Illini Hold Indoor Practice

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Rain and sleet drove Illinois indoors for light signal drills today as the Illini aimed for their Saturday homecoming opponent, Ohio State.

Life Bolton, 225-pound tackle who injured his ankle in the Iowa game, will be ready to play. Jim Valek, right end, was hobbling on his bad ankle and remains a doubtful starter.

Badgers Bolster Injured Squad

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Wisconsin football team scrimmaged in mud, sleet and rain today, sharpening its attack against Marquette here Saturday.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher also used the afternoon to develop replacements for end, center and fullback to bolster an injury-ridden squad.

Ken Sachtjen, who has been used sparingly all season because of injuries, worked out today and may be ready for the hilltoppers.

Cagers, Gridders Share Attention At College Here

Basketball and football will share the spotlight on the Illinois college campus for the next few weeks.

Blasop mentors Al Miller and Joe Brooks yesterday announced a formal two-day routine which will extend through a week from Friday.

I. C. cagers, who have been working out on their own for about two weeks, were called to a special meeting after supper Tuesday. Since many of the basketball candidates also play football, cage workouts will be held each evening starting tonight.

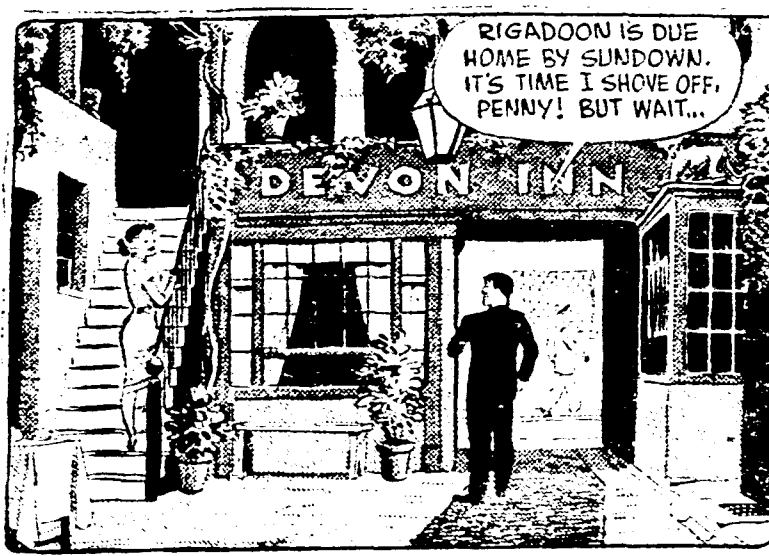

The basketball campaign opens with a tilt at Concordia (St. Louis) on December 3. The first home game will be with Blackburn the next night.

Two football tilts remain—with Elmhurst here Saturday and at Hillsdale, Michigan, a week from Saturday.

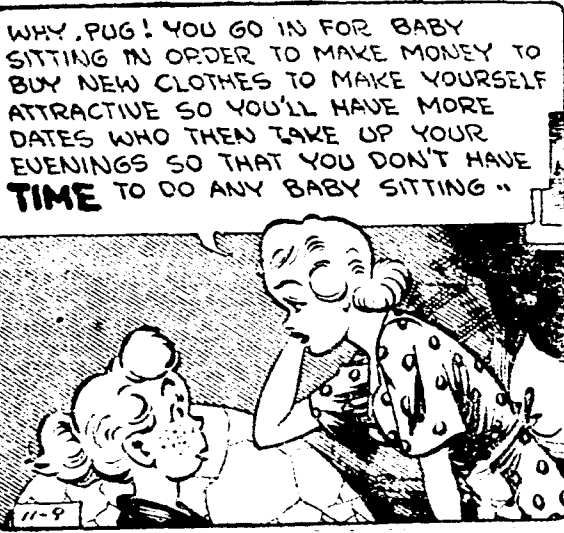

While basketball will come in for its share of attention during the next two weeks, football still is tops on the program. Outdoor workouts are scheduled through Friday evening in preparation for the last home and CCI game.

Illinois college is primed to win the Elmhurst contest. Coaches expect most of their injured gridders to see action and a

Waltz into Darkness
BY WILLIAM IRISH

THE STORY
Time, 1880. Place, New Orleans.
Louis Durand, 37, a well-to-do bachelor, was corresponding with Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. He has proposed marriage and she has accepted.
According to her picture, Miss Russell is dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young.
Durand goes down to the dock to meet the boat that is to bring her from St. Louis. He is dumfounded when an exquisite young blond creature introduces herself as Julia. She explains her little deceit by saying she didn't want him to fall for just a pretty face.
Durand is enchanted with her and they are married. Certain things puzzle him, however, during their first days together. Among them is the fact Julia has never opened her trunk. She says she lost the key. Durand happens to open a letter to her from her sister. The letter chides her with not writing.

HE waited until after they were through their supper to speak of it, and then only in the midst of least reproachful way.

He took it out and gave it to her, after they had entered the sitting room from the dining room, and settled themselves there, she across the lamp table from him.
"This came for you today. I opened it by mistake, not noticing. I hope you'll forgive me."

She took the whole envelope first, and studied it a second, this way and that. "Who's it from?"
she said.

"Can't you tell?"
Just as he was about to wonder why the script in itself did not tell her that, she had already withdrawn its contents and opened them, and murmured "Oh," so the question never had a chance to form itself in his mind.

She read it rather quickly, even hurriedly, her head moving with each line, then back again, in continuous hurried little twitches.
Then reached the bottom and had done.

He thought he saw remorse on further use for the original, edged it slightly aside and didn't concern herself with it any further.

He let her be. He returned to his own chair, took up his newspaper once more. But the stream of her thoughts did not seem to flow easily. He would hear the scratching of her pen for a few words, then it would stop, die of a sudden, there would be a long wait. Then it would scratch for a few jerky words more, then die away again.

AT length he heard her give a great sigh, but one more of short-patience aversion continuing even after a task has been completed than of relief at its conclusion, and the scratching of the pen had stopped for good. She flung it down, as if annoyed.

"I've done. Do you want to read it?"

"No," he said, "it's between sister and sister, not for a husband to read."

"Very well," she said negligently.
She passed her pink tongue around the gummed edge of the envelope, sealed it in. She stood it upright against the inside of the desk, prepared to close the slab over it. "I'll have Aunt Sarah post it for me in the morning."

He had reached for it and picked it up before her hands could forestall him, though they both flew out toward it just a moment too late. She hadn't expected him to be standing there behind her.

He slid it into his inside breast pocket, buttoned his coat over it.
"I can do it for you myself," he said. "I leave the house earlier.
I'll be that much sooner on my way."

He saw a startled expression, almost of trapped fear, cause her eyes to dodge cornerwise for an instant, but then they evened again so quickly he told himself he must have been mistaken, he must not have seen it at all.

When next he looked she was stroking the edge of her fingers with a bit of chamomile penwiper, against potential rather than actual spots, however, and that seemed to be her sole remaining concern at the moment, though she puckered her brows pensively over the task.

Cost Per Student At High School Below Average

The average high school teacher in Jacksonville is 42 years old, has been teaching for 24 years and makes $2,855 for the school year, according to figures presented by Superintendent D. R. Blodgett to the Jacksonville Board of Education at its regular meeting held Tuesday night.

The average high school teacher in Morgan county is almost 20 years younger, 40.5; has been teaching 20 years and makes $2,720.

Comparative Figures
Dr. Blodgett also gave board members a breakdown of costs per pupil in the various high schools of the county. The costs in Jacksonville were $255.82 per pupil during 1947-1948. During the same period costs in other schools were: Waverly, $400; Chapin, $317.25; Franklin, $350; Meredosia, $288.05; Arenzville, $267.

The superintendent said the teacher shortage is becoming more acute.

"Each year about 500 teachers retire, about 100 die in service and about 4,250 withdraw from the pension fund and leave teaching. There were 3,870 emergency teachers in 1947-48. The birth rate is still increasing and there were fewer than 1,200 new teachers entered in the education departments of Illinois colleges this year."

Many Farm Classes
Seventeen agricultural classes for veterans are now being conducted by the school, Dr. Blodgett reported. Allen McCullough and Clarence Stark each teach five classes: Maurice Strang, Ted Pierce and Fred Cousin each teach two; George C. Egbert teaches one class and supervises the entire program. The board received $16,850.35 for the on-the-job agricultural program during the last school year.

The superintendent said that James Welch, high school band director, has been called for selective service and has passed his physical examination. He will probably leave early in December.

Jacksonville Men Attend American Legion Conference

Over 500 American Legion officers attended the two day session of the 25th Annual Conference of Commanders and Adjutants held Nov. 6-7 at the state headquarters of the American Legion, Department of Illinois, in Bloomington. Leonard W. Moody, Arkansas, national vice commander, spoke at the Sunday session.

Jacksonville representatives to the conference were Glenn Spencer, commander, and Frank Robinson, adjutant, of Jacksonville Post No. 279. Also present from Jacksonville were George Vasconcellos, 20th district commander, Homer G. Bradney, IVC administrator, and Dallas Whitehurst, IVC service officer for Morgan county.

The Saturday afternoon session featured a service officers' school conducted by Lester R. Benston, Chicago, Legion director of rehabilitation in Illinois.

Also on the Saturday afternoon program was a commanders' and vice-commanders' school conducted by Merle E. Schaaq, Princeton, department senior vice commander.

Lawrence J. Fenlon, chairman of the national economic commission of the American Legion, conducted an employment conference with Ed Turk, state Legion employment chairman, and Russell Reeves assisting. All are from Chicago.

William C. Mundt, Bloomington, department adjutant, supervised the adjutants', finance officers' and judge advocates' school. Mark Ethell, Bloomington, headed the disaster relief session, with E. C. McCormick, Chicago, child welfare director, in charge of the conference on child welfare.

William G. Burns, Chicago, state Legion commander, who acted as host to the visiting Legionnaires, introduced Leonard W. Moody, a World War II veteran who substituted for S. Perry Brown, Beaumont, Texas, national commander, as guest speaker on the Sunday morning session. Legislative duties prevented the commander's appearance in Bloomington, according to a wire received by the Department of Illinois from the newly elected chief-tain.

Moody struck hard at the subversive elements in this country who would attempt to undermine our American way of life. "The American Legion," he said, "has over three million members who are the combat troops of Americanism, determined to root out Communism in these United States."

AAA Election Ballots Mailed By Committee

Ballots to 2,178 farm owners and operators were mailed Tuesday by the Morgan county AAA committee in the second "election by mail" for members of the community committees in each of the 18 townships.

The ballots bear the names of men chosen by neighborhood groups who held no office in the AAA. Two men were nominated for each office.

Those displeased with the list of nominations may write in the names of their candidates.

Each township will elect seven men: the township chairman, vice-chairman; third member, two alternates, delegate and alternate to the county convention.

Ballots must be returned to the county office by Nov. 19. The vote will be tabulated the following Monday. Certified township chairmen will assemble in Jacksonville on Friday Nov. 26 to organize the county committee. The latter will take office Dec. 1.

Those elected must qualify for office by operating with the AAA program this year.

The election by mail was first held in Morgan county last year. It is now used throughout Illinois as committeemen found that many more landowners and farmers participated under the new system than they did when each township held a caucus.

Few Farmers Seek Corn Loans; Many Expected In 1949

Many Morgan county farmers are making inquiries relative to corn loans, but the majority of them are deferring application until the end of the year. County AAA Chairman Wallace T. Hembrough said Tuesday.

"Nearly everybody who had an acceptable crib will take a loan on at least part of the 1948 crop," he said. "But if the loan is completed this year the proceeds would count as 1948 income. The additional tax would penalize the farmer in nearly every case."

Mr. Hembrough said 23 corn loans are now in the process of completion. Although this is only a small fraction of the number of loans arranged annually in former years, it's a big change from 1946 and 1947, years when the loan price was considerably below the cash price. Only one loan was completed in 1946; none last year.

A week or more of damp weather might disqualify some applicants, Mr. Hembrough said, especially if the corn is stored in wide cribs. To be eligible the grain may carry 20% moisture if stored in eight foot cribs, or 16% if in 10 foot cribs. Each additional foot in width lowers the maximum allowance by one percent.

The loan program assures the producer $1.42 a bushel for his corn. Six sorghum loans have been arranged thus far.
